

Offering hope to the hopeless & helping the broken re-kindle their dreams

jon m ketcham

Dream re-Kindler to Earth-bound Travelers of Light

Most people have not found their afflatus; most people do not believe in their dreams. In fact, most people are at a complete loss for direction; they don't know themselves; they are sorely lacking confidence; they don't love themselves and they are lacking capabilities, struggling to improve themselves but not making any headway. And, for those who have found their afflatus, many succumb to the "night terrors" of the Dark Night of the Soul.

jon will NOT teach your audience how to become millionaires in 6 weeks, how to find true love without any effort or how to accomplish all of their dreams by just wishing. What he can do is help them to find their direction, assist them in developing their self-confidence and guide them to productively improving their capabilities. If your audience finds themselves lost, wandering blindly through the Dark Night, he will help to illuminate a path to their dream fulfillment.

jon's talks and workshops stem from his books:

Keynotes & Breakouts

Failure Talks

"I once heard a motivational speaker lament, what a shame it is that failures don't give talks, because there's so much you could learn from them, if they did."

A talk about failure from someone with epic-scale experience, how jon found meaning in his life, and the strength to start over, in the face of overwhelming adversity, and how your audience can too!

Perversion, Sin & Death: The Dirty Little Secret That Broke the Law of Attraction

"If you repeat a fairy-tale often enough, and with enough conviction, it starts to look and feel like an apparent truth to the masses, even though it is still false."

What if everything the Law of Attraction is based upon is false? Not only false, but dangerous? Deadly even? jon imagines a world we'd all rather live in.

Seminars & Workshops

Stairwell to Success: Steps & More Steps

Sometimes, when we follow our afflatus and pursue our dreams, things go smoothly. Oftentimes, they do not. Life can be a very fickle and formidable mistress.

Essential, sequential steps your audience can follow to GREATLY increase the odds of success when following their dreams.

Lessons in Developing Loving Compassion

What if everybody loved one another, like all the holy books instruct? What would life look like if everybody actually followed the Golden Rule?

7 Modules designed to awaken your audience to loving compassion for themselves and one another.
